

The Institute of Transportation Engineers Ohio Section presents the recipients of the President's Award

The President's Award recognizes sustained contribution to the transportation engineering profession, the Ohio Section, the Institute and one's community. Factors taken into consideration include Section and National membership and committee activity, positions and offices held, professional accomplishments, community involvements, and demonstrated leadership in one's profession, ITE and the community. The recipient of this award must be a member of the Institute as well as the Ohio Section.
